

COMMUNITY GRANTS

Macmillan Community Grants are available for community groups and organisations to apply for small grants of up to £500 to work in their local community to support people with cancer.

We particularly welcome applications for grants which relate to the following:

EQUALITY DIVERSITY & INCLUSION

At Macmillan we are committed to tackling inequality in services and support for people affected by cancer.

Do you have an idea that would help people affected by cancer who may find it difficult to access cancer support? Would your group or organisation like to do some work to understand the needs of your community?

COVID-19

For so many people the Covid-19 pandemic has had a significant impact on their day to day lives – both emotionally and practically.

Have you any thoughts on helping people affected by cancer find their new normal, and to re-gain their independence as we learn to live in the midst of a global pandemic?

HOW TO APPLY

Please contact engagementscotland@macmillan.org.uk and one of our team will contact you to have an initial discussion.

The application process is quick and simple, a member of the team will be on hand to support you to complete the application form if required. Unfortunately, we are unable to accept applications from individuals, you must be connected to a group or organisation to apply.

We are always keen to hear how our grant programme is making a difference to people affected by cancer. As a way to promote your success you will be invited to participate in our Digital Storytelling Project to tell your story of how you have supported people in your community.

The grants programme remain open until 1st November 2020. Funding will be provided before the end of December 2020.
