

Food allergies can be life threatening.

Are you ready for the new food labelling laws?

New legislation on the labelling of food sold prepacked for direct sale (PPDS) is coming into force on 1st October 2021.

From this date it'll be a legal requirement for businesses producing PPDS foods to label it with the name of the food and an ingredients list with any allergens emphasised.

Answer a few quick questions on our website to find out how you're affected by these changes. You'll also find guidance and support on how to comply.

Visit our website for support and information to make sure you're ready.
